

FORMER TAMMANY CHIEF LOSES HIS AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

He Unwittingly Became Subject of King Edward Through Recent Act of Congress.

Richard Croker, Who Has Lost Citizenship in the United States, and Views of His Beautiful Country Estate at Sandford, Ireland.

London, Sept. 21.—Richard Croker has unwittingly become a full-fledged subject of Great Britain. Of course, the former Tammany leader did not mean to become an alien, but he was so busy with his horses and country home in Ireland that he probably forgot the action of the last congress. He has lost his right to vote as a result of his long residence on foreign soil. Few people ever heard of Sandford county Dublin, until the establishment of Glencairn, Mr. Croker's residence. Now the hitherto obscure place has become historic.

Among other claims for distinction, it is the home of Orby, the Irish derby winner. Altogether there are about 24 2-year-olds in training upon the farm. Beautifully situated, Mr. Croker's elegant mansion is built after American fashion. Approaching Glencairn, the white granite entrance constitutes an imposing feature. The driveways are winding and picturesque. The former Tammany chieftain delights in directing the affairs of the estate, and sees that everything is beautifully cared for and well kept. He is especially fond of his horses, but cares nothing for betting.

PEON LEASES A COPPER QUEEN MINE TO PAY DEBTS

He Has Taken Out Over $18,000,000 But Spent Little Probability That Reduction in Prices Will Affect Company.

New York, Sept. 21.—Pedro Alvarado, the Mexican peon who took millions from the Alvarado silver mines of Barral, Mexico, and astonished three continents by his lavish display of wealth, is now in debt and has been compelled to realize upon his famous mines.

He owes about $500,000 and because he refused to mortgage or sell any of his assets, creditors prevailed upon him to lease the mine from which he has taken nearly $18,000,000. Through the efforts of George C. Beckham, a banker, of Barral, and James F. Flynn, a mining expert, a way was suggested by which Alvarado could raise the funds he required. Mr. Flynn came to New York and interested Joseph A. Coram, of Boston, a mining capitalist.

Gets $100,000. Mr. Flynn said the Mexican was willing to lease the mine, but he would not sell it or mortgage it. As a result of negotiations the lease was signed on Friday last.

The former peon immediately received $100,000 of American money, gold, or $200,000 Mexican money, a sum which a year ago he thought nothing of. In return the Coram syndicate obtains 55 per cent of the net profits, the balance going to Alvarado. Mr. Coram also made a loan of $300,000, to be paid back when the mines are in operation.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

More than a score of different races are represented in the "far east" department of the Pawnee Bill show, which will spread its big tents for two performances here on next Monday. They come from South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia and comprise an ethnological gallery whose completeness has no equal in the showman's content.

Australia is represented by the famed boomerang throwers. Their missile is a curved wooden instrument, convex on one side and flat on the other. Thrown with a certain movement, it returns in a sort of ellipse to the feet of the powerful black who manipulates it. The shape and power of the weapon varies in the hands of the skilled Australian. It becomes a mere toy or a deadly instrument of war.

The South American Gauchos demonstrate with other types of projectors the bola and the lariat. The free, wild life of the pampas has developed these men into wonderful expert wielders of the rope. They display their strength and skill in reproductions of the chase and of warfare.

Each side of the African continent has yielded for Pawnee Bill bands of primitive, half-barbarous natives. From Abyssinia, the turbulent land of King Menelik, where the spirit of progress is nil, come a group of tall, long-headed black men and of female warriors, or Amazons, distinguished for superior physique and high skill in the use of weapons. Their religion is purely fetish, and the sacrifice of human beings still prevails in their native country. Dahomey, straight across the center of the desert, sends men and women of equally low standard of morality and warlike attributes. Missionaries can make no impression upon them. They are a character study of rare interest to young and old.

The Hottentots, dwarfs from Namaland, South Africa, hold absorbing attention. They wear little costume beyond a cloak of skin, but smear their bodies lavishly with fat and soot. Witch-doctors and sorcerers heal their sick by magic. They carry their own homes, low, oval, dome-shaped huts, made of thatched poles, and prefer wild roots, berries, plants, insects and snakes to the appetizing American food of Pawnee Bill's tented restaurant.

Many visitors declare the Maoris, aborigines from New Zealand, are, in many respects, the most remarkable representatives of the Polynesian race. They are noted for their tattooing, their ornamental and decorative art, and their epic poetry, legends and mythology. Visitors need not be alarmed over the announcement that their tastes are cannibalistic. From the southeastern coast of Africa come the Kads, who make drudges of the women. The men are essentially warriors, who hurl clubs and lances with wonderful force and accuracy, and carry a decorated shield of horsehide almost their own height.

Unaccustomed to the restraints of civilized government, distinguished by their predatory habits, born to life in the saddle and to constant warfare, the Cosacks have taken highest rank among the irregular cavalry of the world. A company of these free, wild people have come from the Steppes of the Don to display their achievements in the Pawnee Bill entertainment. With them are their own horses, as lithe and fiery as the picturesquely garbed and turbaned riders. They complete an exposition of the horsemanship of the world, contrasting their style and method with those of the regulars from the armies of the United States, England, France, Germany, Russia, and Japan; cowboys, gauchoes, vaqueros, Indians and Arabs.
